3. Book Details

a. Summarise your book (200 words)
b. What is the rationale/motivation of your book? Also, is it timely, important, or needed? If so, why? (This section is the heart of your proposal, and should be thorough. Feel free to provide background information of your book's subject discipline, contemporary developments, and the gap your book seeks to fill)
c. Please list the chapter breakdown of your book along with chapter summaries. (Here, discuss the structure and flow of the book so that its internal coherency and rationality are made apparent. Also, please be as detailed as possible with the chapter summaries so that the content and objectives of each chapter are clear)
d. What are the competing titles in this field? How does your book differ from them? (Feel free to discuss as many as titles as you want. As a general rule, however, 3-5 relevant titles are sufficient)
e. Who is this book written for? (Please try to mention primary and secondary audiences if and when applicable)
